Let's Start!

Let's discover musical geniuses of the past and today!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use important information about people's jobs and places of work in communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- Who is your favorite singer? Why?
- Have you ever written a song?

Can Do Statements

- I can describe people I admire.
- I can describe experiences I've had or haven't had.
- I can talk about how something happens or how someone behaves.

Let's Explore!

Who are some musical geniuses? Do you agree with Sally's blog?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Has anyone ever asked you who your favorite musician is? It's such a hard question to answer! I like to think about musical geniuses of the past and today! Have you ever heard of Mozart or Beethoven? They were classical music composers - both prolific and extremely influential. Their ability to magically write music that is timeless and moving has not been seen or heard of since their time.

I've always loved rock music. Within that genre of music, there are many musical geniuses. John Lennon, a member of The Beatles, Bob Dylan and Freddie Mercury (from Queen) are seen as pioneers of their generation and beyond. They boldly challenged people's ideas of what music was. They expertly composed lyrics that have remained relevant until now. Michael Jackson and Stevie Wonder are musical geniuses of the pop music industry. Their groundbreaking sounds and concepts have had an impact on the way that many modern-day musicians sing and perform.

Let's Practice!

How would you describe* these musical geniuses?

Learning Points

Genres of Music

There are many genres of music. People often talk about what kind of music they like. They are talking about what genre of music they enjoy listening to.

Here is a list of some music genres:

Rock
Pop
Country
Classical Electronic Folk
Contemporary
Metal
Rap/Hip-hop

What is your favorite kind of music?

Examples:

- I like to listen to rock.
- I love classical music.

Learning Points

The Present Perfect Tense vs. The Simple Past Tense

While we use the Simple Past and the Present Perfect to talk about past events, there are significant differences in their usage. Observe the examples:

I loved Michael Jackson when I was a child. (A past event at a specific time.)

I've always loved pop music. (The event started some time in the past and continues today.)

He's attended many classical music performances. (The action happened in the past, but we don't know the specific time.)

Michael Jackson's music has influenced many generations.
(There is a present connection with a past event.)

In speaking, you can shorten the auxiliary verb of the Present Perfect by using the contractions 've and 's.

I've always loved rock music.

Stevie Wonder's been my favorite artist since I was at school.

The following chart shows the contraction of the auxiliary verb to have for the Present Perfect:

Subject	Present Perfect Auxiliary	Contraction	Contraction in the Negative
I	have	I've	I haven't
You	have	You've	You haven't
He/She/It	has	He's/She's/It's	He/She/It hasn't
We	have	We've	We haven't
They	have	They've	They haven't

Examples:

Beethoven's been an influential musician for centuries.

She hasn't heard classical music.

We've followed Bob Dylan's music since we were young kids.
